Both newspapers ran articles on the death of "Little" John Peck in January 1874.

Excerpts: There is probably not one of our readers, be he aged, middle-aged or young, who has not seen or heard of the subject of this article. "Little Peck" was four feet high and 36 inches around the breast. Muscular and active, he could challenge the strongest and tallest and in a moment lay them on their back. At the time of his death, he was acting Justice of the Peace, had held the position of County Auditor and was a candidate for Associate Judge before the Democratic nominating Convention that met in Harrisonville a couple of years ago but he hadn't votes enough.

He came to town on the 13th inst. to make settlement with the Commissioners of the unpaid taxes collected by him. While on his way home on Wednesday, he fell from his horse two or three times sustaining injuries by the falls from which death is supposed to have resulted. Born in Thompson Township in 1815, his age was about fifty-nine years.

He considered himself somewhat of a musician and had taught classes of vocal music in many of the counties of this State and in several of the States of the Union. He was genial and kind-hearted and demonstrated that a man is not reckoned by his stature.
